Transparent wings flash
Saltwaters lash
From eyes in a brainstorm
Go blow yer own
Horn of plenty
But please come gently
To the waterside
To dip yer toe and sink your
Sink your skinny hide

And on these eyes
A penny lies to pay my way through the storm
And guide me to the light of home
Where I sleep alone.

And on these eyes
A penny lies to pay my way through the storm
And guide me to the light of home
Where I sleep alone

On the waterside
Where I sleep alone
On the waterside
Where I sleep alone

And on the bank where my heart sank
In clay wet from a rainstorm
I dug my own hope and I sleep
Please come quietly
To the waterside
To dig yer hole and sink your
Sink your skinny hide

On the waterside
On the waterside

And on these eyes
A penny lies to pay my way through the storm
And guide me to the light of home
Where I sleep alone.

And on these eyes

A penny lies to pay my way through the storm
And guide me to the light of home
Where I sleep alone

Sink your skinny hide
Where I sleep alone
Sink your skinny hide

Sink your skinny hide
Where I sleep alone
Sink your skinny hide

On the waterside
Where I sleep alone
On the waterside

On the waterside
Where I sleep alone

On the waterside
Where I sleep alone

On the waterside
Where I sleep alone
