I believe if I was all alone,

I would be better off in a world my own I'd forget I ever knew of you, and this dream every night that you put me through We walk along a Hollywood sea and you dance once again with me

We are close, we are friends
And our love never ends
But in the cold morning light I see
That you won't be back for me

The wound you left is healing and then it starts itching and I scratch it open again So the pain comes out and I give in and indulge my imagination, whims

We sit and drink Victorian tea and your face wears a smile for me

I was yours, you were mine
Our hearts bound, lost in time
But in the cold morning light I see
That you won't be back
For me there can be no peace
For me there can be no rest
I believe though I've tried my best I'm condemned it seems to a life of restlessness and broken dreams
