Yeah, my life is Yours
I've been back and forth running from this war
But You Redeemer, sing over me
New life is the melody

He's ready for you, ready for me to stop and breathe
Abandon all the things that fail to leave

Let go, let yourself fall into the light
Need to learn to let go, let the old die

Yeah, to You my life belongs
A fleeting vapor holding on until the race is won
So strange and beautiful to me
Heads turn to think they were possibly meant to be

Love connects, our brokenness shows
A pair needs one to lead and one to follow

Let go, let yourself fall into the light
Need to learn to let go, let the old die
Let go, let yourself fall into the light
Need to learn to let go, let the old die

So I'll run heading towards the One
And I'm getting closer

Let go, let yourself fall into the light
Need to learn to let go, let the old die
Let go, let yourself fall into the light
Need to learn to let go, let the old die
