

Run on Sentence

"The Afterlife Pt. II"

Visit "The Afterlife Pt. II" on MotoLyrics.com

I can't explain why the night sky
won't let me sleep
It aint like I'm tired of sunshine
but when the wind blows through the dark trees and the stars puzzle me I somehow no longer fear dyin

No one may ever know just what we are but we're certainly bound for the soil never to be destroyed only to be transformed into particles of the whole I believe in something large and powerful that doesn't know a thing, I believe in something small and beautiful that lives in everything in the breath of the afterlife you can write your name on the window of every car and still won't mean anything anything at all on the dawn of your waking you will find all you need is right there at your feet.

Visit Run on Sentence page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.