It's about time that this world goes up in flames Like a bolt from the blue descending from the sky my brain colapses in the dead of night too much for my psyche,another crack-up if your awake please join me all the things you see,the same what I see we listen to the sound of a nervous breakdown a deathly wish with the will to live is one of the things that freaks me out I'm waiting for a sign,have to leave this place behind Where no one knows my name
And later we'll come down we'll both break down and cry our last goodbye I break the chains I'm out of line I'm living on nerves,last day of ninety-nine nightmare,conspiracy,depression and lunacy I need to fell more love inside Locked up,messed up,maybe there is no tomorrow all the thinking does no good I'll miss you my love but it's about time that this world goes up in flames

I'm waiting for a sign, have to leave this place behind
where no one knows my name
And later we'll come down we'll both break down and cry and say our last good bye
