All this was part of you before you were even born
For your best interests they grow stronger
For your best interests you pay the price
You live the consequence
Swallow the pill (you obey so well)
You're just what you were meant to be
Oblivious to that which suffocates you
Take your number/no resistance
Take your number
It's who you are now
Take your number
Commit it to memory
No further need for any identity
Pliant, permissive, dead on your feet
You'll remain this way until you die
Play your part
Play their game
No resistance
Nothings changed
