"Cry"

Visit "Cry" on MotoLyrics.com

My mood is much darker than fear
It's older than anger
It's infant and primal
It's bubbly and grotesque
It's in between what I know

And so I ask,

Why should I cry
Why should I cry

Let's go my no one love
You're the one, the one
I always wanted to be now
And ever since the break of dawn
You've been next to me
And my mood
You're greedier than sex
But sexier than greed

And so I ask,

Why should I cry
Why should I cry

And all the sailors
They go down
To where the woman lies
And she is dreaming of another
Place in time where
A place in time where she can ask
