The summer sun bleeds into the sea
We watch the tide leave at our feet
But let's remember
The sunburned lovers
Who found each other
When we were lost
I'll have the memories
To hold inside of me
After these breathless days are gone

In spite of promises we'll make
The waves will wash our names away
But we will hold on to the day
Pretending it will last forever

I will remember
The sunburned lovers
Who found each other
When we were lost
I'll have the memories
To hold inside of me
After these breathless days are gone

I know the memories
Will never leave me
Part of my heart where you belong
Still won't believe these breathless days are gone
