When times are hard you ask for sweeter tunes
When days are tough the nights bring full saloons
But when I swing and change to minor chords
That's when the audience goes wild

Here comes the tragedy
The sound of agony
The tears you love to cry
The pain that wants no remedy

People tell me they like me to smile
Bring joy and relief for a while
But when all the music starts
They love the sound of tragedy

Here comes the tragedy
The death of harmony
The tears you love to cry
The pain that fights serenity

People tell me they like me to smile
Bring joy and relief for a while
Deep inside your heart you want the tragedy

I walk the stage and sing you've got a friend
I find applause towards the happy end
But when I swing and change to minor chords
That's when the audience goes wild

Here comes the tragedy
The sound of agony
The tears you love to cry
The pain that wants no remedy

People tell me they like me to smile
Bring joy and relief for a while
But when all the music starts
They love the sound of tragedy

One I'll direct your success
Two every rule we transgress

Three it's the drama they bless

Four find the spleen at the core

Five it's the tears they adore

Six and when they weep give them more

Here comes the tragedy

The death of harmony

The tears you love to cry

The pain that fights serenity

Here comes the tragedy

The sound of agony

The tears you love to cry

The pain that wants no remedy

People tell me they like me to smile

Bring joy and relief for a while

Deep inside your heart you want the tragedy

(Here comes the tragedy

The death of harmony

The tears you love to cry

The pain that fights serenity

People tell me they like me to smile

Bring joy and relief for a while

Deep inside your heart you want the tragedy)
