"A Twist In The Sky"

I've spent many a year planning for my past.
Now the baker has found a new love at last,
And there is no bread better than the bread of a baker
Whose sadness has finally past.
And someday she might wave him goodbye
From a twist in the faraway sky,
But for now she will love him, always adore him
For the way that he makes her rise.

Ooh it just seems that I get my luck
Living from penny to penny.
Now the milkman has left us all high & dry
It seems that he's found on his very last round
A girl that'll make him shout,
And someday he might wave her goodbye from a twist
in the faraway sky,
But for now he will love her, always adore her,
Cause this one is different, oh it's just different,
This one is different somehow
Ooh
Ooh
