If I was a sunset
I'd wanna lay on your bed
And watch the Hollywood lights flicker as I started to dim
If I was a movie
You know I'd feel pretty good I'd watch you dancing all night in the dark where I stood
I don't think about you
I don't think about you
I don't think about you
You don't think about me
Miss sunflower blue

She's got the brown eyes
Yea, and they're pretty as hell
And they'll burn through your shirt if you're holding her still
She's got a lighter, and a lit cigarette
And if you're making her smile, well that's just as high as you can get
But I don't think about you
I don't think about you
I don't think about you
You don't think about me
Miss sunflower blue

And I'm still out on Sunset in a taxi cab
Still at the movies, and I'm holding your hand
Still at an overpass view, looking out at the lights
I'm still on an airplane
And I'm starting to cry

I don't think about you

If I was the evening
You know I'd send you a breexe
I'd let it whisper in your ear, kiss you and sing you sleep
If I wasn't so screwed up
Maybe all the words might've come

But I think the needing just took everything the wanting was sung

But I don't think about you
I don't think about you
I don't think about you
You don't think about me
Miss sunflower blue
