Something in the way she eases my mind
And lays me across the bed till I close my eyes
Stirs me in the morning till I can ever be satisfied

Loving Carolina every night in my dreams
Like the girls that try to love me that I only leave
Rock me like a baby doll and hold me to your chest
But I'm always moving too fast

If I could find my way back home, where would I go?
Everything about me, I used to be
Shivers in the sheets and the blankets of snow
Lost out in the woods where you're looking for me

When, when will you come back home?
When, when will you come back home?
No one leaves the lights on in a house
Where nobody lives anymore

Loaded like the boxes up in the bedroom
Coming off the hinges like the door
The shadows dancing up in the window
They're not who we are but who we were

And I'm not gonna break, but if I do
I'm gonna shatter like the glass I turned your heart into I'm broken like the windows in the house where I used to live

And If I could find my way back home, where would I go?
When everything about me, I used to be
Shivers in the sheets and the blankets of snow
I'm lost out in the woods looking for you

When, when will you come back home?
When, when will you come back home?
When, when will you come back home?
When, when will you come back home?
No one leave the lights on in a house
Where nobody lives anymore

Everything about me you liked is already gone
Everything about me we loved is gone

When will you come back home?
When, when will you come back home?
When, when will you come back home?
When, when will you come back home?
