"Mascot War"

One day there was a mascot war, the body count was large Metal vs. cereal, and Eddie led the charge Toucan Sam was kneecapped and his beak was smashed apart
When Murray clubbed him in the face and then ripped out his heart

Tony didn't feel so great when Wrex opened his head With some friendly violent fun that stupid tiger fuck was dead
Not manned up and with a punch proceeded to lay waste Planted a fistful of metal right in Wendell's smarmy face

Silly Rabbit didn't look, was in for quite a shock When Vic Rattlehead came from behind and brained him with a rock Snaggletooth impaled Booberry on his piggy tusks And then roasted him, his breath turning the undead fiend to dust

It's a mascot war

Grim Reaper jumped his motorcycle through a church window
There he found the Corn Flake Rooster, killed him with a solid blow
Jack-O-Lantern took one of the seven keys, said "die," And then Lucky, that poor bastard got it crammed into his eye

Honey Bee and Chaley battled high above the ground With a hammer of his head the winged skull, he won the round Flotzilla towered high above the battle, with a chop It was doomsday for deceivers known as Snap, Crackle and Pop

Count Chocula, a wooden stake inside his heart, was slain

It was placed there with no mercy by bloodthirsty Baphomet
Cap'n Crunch was stomped upon and then his head was pissed
Because Sargent D was coming and he was on his list

There's too much at stake tonight Metal mascots take the throne Diggum's skull is gleaming white And Frankenberry dies alone
Frankenberry dies alone
Frankenberry dies alone
Mascot war

Breakfasttime your time is up Show the Honeycomb thing no fear Hold fast and stand your ground
Our time is now, our moment's here
