When I was scorned gone in rotten decay
There was no meaning but I found it that way in you
It's all for you

I worship dear god, oh my precious it's true
I have damned my existence and I give it all back to you
It's all for you

Rest on the morning that the sun won't shine
When the end is near we'll leave the past behind
Blessed for the calling is where you'll find
That you can't turn back once you cross the line

You won't wake on the morning when the gods decide

That the alter of man will meet with deaths defiance and
You
It's all for you

No hope for the wicked and the undesired
Aside this sacrilege is where the weak are admired and
You
It's all for you

Sacrilege, you crossed the line

You won't wake on the morning that the sun won't shine
When the end is near we'll leave the past behind
Blessed for the calling is where you'll find
That you can't turn back once you cross the line
