I can see through
Your passenger window
Several things that make
My heart beat again
As you unlock the door,
You know you've locked me in.

I was perfect
When I didn't see you there.
Why can't you just leave me alone?
And I will go home.

You're too far,
You're not here and that's too far.
How can I compete with the sun
That dominates the place
Where you come from?

Chorus:
Take, take, take me away
Because I won't find love today
You're gone, you're gone
And I'm sorry.
I'm sorry.

Things were constant
Until I saw you there.
With one "hello," you made it seem
Like you were custom-made for me.

But you're too far,
You're not here and that's too far.
You would just leave because the sun
Just disappoints the place
Where I come from.
I swear it's a different one.

(Chorus)
