

Ry Cooder "Simple Tools"

Visit "Simple Tools" on MotoLyrics.com

My wife used to say she couldn't understand Why I make my living working with my hands
She met a junk bond daddy and he broke up my home
He made his living on the telephone Daddy spied my darling and he dialed her number then
They took off next morning and she won 't he back again
Now I may not be good looking and I never been to school
But I patched up my broken home using simple tools
Simple tools simple tools I like simple tools
I' m just a common ordinary workaday fooi
I might not be the brightest bulb or the straightest mle
But I can mend my broken heart using simple tools
I can talk to girls in bars mayhe a few We'B drink a little glass of wine or maybe two
I might wake up in gay Paree or good old San Berdoo
The gals appreciate a man that uses simple tools
I won't be walking 'round all night wondel'in' what to do
I won't be calling up the morgue askin' for you Or beating down these memories with one of your old shoes
I can do the job in half the time' cause I use simple tools
Simple tools simple tools I like simple tools
I'm just a common ordinary workaday fool
I might not be the brightest bulb or the straightest rule,
But I can do the job in half the time and it stays done when I use smple tools

Visit Ry Cooder page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.