Atom heart lover, where have you been?
A soul without body, a crown without king
A little knowledge is a dangerous thing
Stroke the boy with the rotten skin

Your mind is an ocean, your heart is a shore
My soul is a desert, I still want some more
The cold wind is wailing of sadness and hope
We're crawling on all fours, leaving this road

Drunken astronauts in space, perfect moves in perfect
Grace
We are pilots without aim, we're like paintings in the Rain

Heart and soul will lose the war, the mind will dominate
It all
Silent impacts in my mind, we will find a place to die

Atom heart lover, when will we rise?
A life without meaning, a truth between lies
Too much knowledge is a murderous thing
Kill the man with the silver ring

Your will is a castle, your hate is a storm
My life is a wasteland, this time I feel torn
The old man is wailing a poem of trust
We're breathing so silent, hidden and lost
