"A Violent Reaction"

Leaft me around
And nurse my broken wing with all the promises you can never honour I just don't care enough to react to vain attempts sent only to pepetuate on selfish little world you wont see what I've become You'll wait and watch and still your only let down
a violent little reaction struggling only to keep myself alive now here I stand for nothing no one at all I lead you down begging to touch you in the cold you give me a reason I will not be the one
Through all the nonsense There is a constant
cause this felling
has dawned on the face of you
