Evolution the greatest lie
No answers to our past
Indication of certain forms
But only doubts are cast.
Experiment. Could it be
An interbreeding race?
Unshown to us
The Gods who own our face.
Forever watched from the sky
Report on mankind reads
Diseased to die from within
We've condemned all next of kin.
The genocide of mother Earth
As she awaits her rebirth
The cancer cell set to germinate
Our programme will annihilate.
Spawning the seeds
Of an alien nation
The master race
Their pure creation.
Detrimental effects set to take their toll
Sit back and watch the world.
Watch the world evolve.
Tracing back through the depths of time
Our past is out of line
Patterns found within different religions.
Accept what you will
For it may not be
You can twist reality
Cynical doubts lined with uncertainty.
Spinning the fine line
Tween fiction and fact
These stargazers storytales
No evidence intact.
Spawning the seeds
Of an alien nation
The master race
Their pure creation
Detrimental effects set to take their toll
Sit back and watch the world.
Watch the world evolve.
Sewing the seeds

Paving the way - Repeat.
SONG: PAINT THE WORLD BLACK
Dazed on the edge of his world
He looks on staring at his past life unfolding
Sail away on the waves of despair
Drowned within the tears that once cared.
His kingdom has fallen down
As his thoughts take him back
For one who once treasured life
Now to paint the world black.
Who would believe
What I have seen?
Why has life betrayed me?
My mind the foe
The Judas
That deceived me.
Here we are
At the crossroads
Which way will we turn?
Is there life inside you?
This is life inside me
Can I live, will it ever be the same?
Do you know?
Sail away on the waves of despair
Drowned within the tears that once cared
There's a light shining down on me
My true advocate
My destiny I foresee
Now to paint the world black.
