In life there are people that I cannot understand
I refuse to give into all that you demand
You cannot see into me, and I cannot see in you Beneath what you see is someone that you thought you knew
Beneath what you see
Is someone you can't control
Alone I wait for someday to change this
If no one came to help me they would not be missed
This is what lies on other side of the wall that separates
A line that when is crossed, it's already too late
Beneath what you see
Is someone that you can't control
You cannot understand
I am in command
Running in circles, my world has gone mad Wanting things that I know I can never have Always addicted to something that will destroy
Always watching you driving me paranoid
Beneath what you see
Is someone that you can't control
Beneath what you see
Is someone that will destroy
All that used to be
Has changed to me
