She's the girl who loves to dance
Dance the night way
Going out with a guy named Lance
Who thinks he's from LA

You may think that she's showing off
But you'd be surprised
She's beautiful with those disco lights
Shining in her eyes

While the disco ball turns just the right speed
And the disco light shines only where she needs
And all through the week she works just like a slave
But tonight life's easy hey yay yay

She's the girl who loves to dance
Dance the night away
Give the 70s a second chance
Hello YMCA
Watch her moving on the floor
Watch her turning heads
She's not tired, she's not sore
She's not ready for bed. No!

While the disco ball turns just the right speed
And the disco light shines only where she needs
And all through the week she works just like a slave
But tonight she's dancing hey yay yay.

Oh.

(She's dancing she's not sore)
So she danced the whole night away
On a barroom floor
Then the bouncer drove her home
She she'd her shoes and she danced some more
Whoah she danced some more.
She danced some more.
