They are running out,
These lies you,
Painted on the wall,
Are slowly fading,
And the truth came out of,
These pictures you hide from,
And you can't handle it,
Knowing I know everything,
So don't try to hide anything anymore

I will wash it away,
Every lie you told me,
It will all come out today,
It will wash you away,
Every lie you told me will wash you away
It will wash you away

It washes away and it falls down, this thing you brought back around,
and it dripps away,
far away,
with these lies you brought here again,
you brought em again,
you brought em again,
and you try to fight em away,
to fight em away,
to fight em away,
This falling day yeah

I will wash it away,
Every lie you told me,
It will all come out today,
It will wash you away,
Every lie you told me will wash you away
It will wash you away

I will wash it away,
Every lie you told me,
It will all come out today,
It will wash you away,
Every lie you told me will wash you away

It will wash you away
