The memory will always be inside my soul
I never did believe the stories I was told
They told me that dreams you promised all were lines
You used to win the games you played with naive minds

Chorus

You said you loved me and still you went away
And now you come back expecting me to stay
There have been changes some which I can't deny
I've gotten stronger grown to know myself inside

One day I thought I'd see you on my way back home
As I walked along the street we used to walked along
And as I saw you standing there, my heart bled tears
I walked away my head up high, and all else clear

Chorus

You said you loved me and still you went away
And now you come back expecting me to stay
There have been changes some which I can't deny
I've gotten stronger grown to know myself inside

Keep on playing

It's you I'm blaming for this tragedy (oh yeah)
I believed you, then I learned to see you
Your planned destiny (oh yeah)

Chorus

You said you loved me and still you went away
And now you come back expecting me to stay
There have been changes some which I can't deny
I've gotten stronger grown to know myself inside

You hurt me with your lies and from your lies I learned
The memories of your games slowly but surely burned
And now I'm used to seeing you everywhere I go
No matter what you do or say I'll still say no,
No... No No
You said that you love me

Chorus

You said you loved me and still you went away
And now you come back expecting me to stay
There have been changes some which I can't deny
I've gotten stronger grown to know myself inside

Ooh... get yourself together

Chorus

You said you loved me and still you went away
And now you come back expecting me to stay
There have been changes some which I can't deny
I've gotten stronger grown to know myself inside
