It wasn't that long ago
That I would lift you up and hold you
It seems like a thousand years
That I have watched you on your own

I was never that far away
I know you felt that it was over
No reason to be afraid
I've always had my eye on you

You know I wanted to help you start over
But not this way
You know I wanted to help you, believe me
But not this way

You wanna be on your own
But you still need me here to listen
And in the last fifty years
You haven't had a lot to say

I know that the air you breathe
Is weighted down with information
How do you sleep at night?
You're just hearing what you wanna hear

You know I wanted to help you start over
But not this way
You know I wanted to help you, believe me
But not this way

You know I wanted to help you
But not this way
