It was the (beatboxing) that got me (beatboxing)
It was the (beatboxing) break (beatboxing)
Deflate cuz I was gassed
Head over heels in love with the electric drums
And spoken vocals which was the joke of locals
And laughing stock of my rock and roll ass town
But the rhythmic acupuncture pierced my skin Pinning the butterflies to my stomach
Which would flutter everytime i heard the (beatboxing)
More than the (beatboxing)
I WAS NO DEVIL WORSHIPER
Higher level interpreter
I refuse to lose focus and recite satanic verses With (????) curses
Drug induced worst i know they were saying Kill your mother cuz it paid them well
Yet it my flashback i see the foreshadow Ironic twist my first purchase was a hip hop record Called raising hell
I should have run when i had the chance but DMC's Made be wanna breakdance, made me wanna spin vinyl,
Made me wanna graph right, made me want to not act white
And not to perpetuate any stereotype but I was not about the mullet icehockey haircut
You know the mullet, short on top for the fellas Long in back for the ladies, yea!
I was not about stonewash nuthuggies with the french Rolls on the bottom so tight that it turned my toes purple
Nor was i about the ripped jean jacket with the megadeath,
Metallica, and slayer patch
I had an internal itch for the (beatboxing) and never Could i get with () guitar riff, () guitar riff, ()
I had wild style wars, i rented (blue) street every week
As i rocked steady wearing out the play rewind and slow mo
Buttons on my VCR
I did the pause-play, pause-play, pause-play, pause-play

All day forcing my wage comprehension of inner city invention for me
Was in the expression which would eventually win the exception
(what exception) those around me couldnt give me affection
But i played and paid that video attention till i eventually i Completely bit the (beatboxing)
And found my new religion, born again B-boy, born to destroy Decoys and be the real mccooy, YEA boy!
I wore the clock so you could know the time Chuck d told me to keep a sober mind, and even though his Sidekick liked the flavor of B0oze, i swear to god
Hip hop was about being drug free I swear to god hip hop is about the upliftment of humanity
And i swear to god hip hop was what rock was not was what bach
Was not was not pop, (pop! pshhhh)
Guess i was gassed!, see i remember when dr dre use to expressss Himself about hating the chronic, a few years later he's Endorsing it while drinking gin and tonic Suburbanites that blast Mace learn their mad face from onyx
It was a rat race the first to properly use ebonics Dynamite like JJ, but it was a fad like super sonic Hip hop flipped from being artistic to a pop hit Mainstream took control and we cannot stop it Its a black art, being manipulated by white controllers
Just like rock and roll is ... we took the (beatboxing)
We took the (beatboxing) ...
