We've been here before
We're stuck and I'm halfway through your door
I've said it before
Listen, this is the last time
We won't fool ourselves no more
Been at it for days
We are brand new but we're already set in our ways
I find it hard to believe
We fall to pieces way too easily
Got our hands on the action
We've been trying really hard to find
Since we got stuck on all the love and affection
It's getting harder for us every time
I wonder why
We have to tell each other lies
Maybe our heartache never dies with the hot night
crash
You'll hear it tonight
Some call it doubts
Too hard to tell me it's all over and out
In the back of my head
I heard you say it
Tried to beat you to it instead
Wish I could be sure that we don't work Could I leave you and all your . . .
Halfway through the door
My eyes shut my shoes nailed to the floor
Got our hands on the action
We've been trying really hard to find
Since we got stuck on all the love and affection
It's getting harder for us every time
I wonder why
We have to tell each other lies
Maybe our heartache never dies with the hot night
You'll hear it tonight
Give us something worth saving when we're done crying
This time I couldn't keep him and I wasn't trying Oh baby drop your worrying it's over
And no we don't need only time to recover
Got our hands on the action

We've been trying really hard to find
Since we got stuck on all the love and affection
It's getting harder for us every time
I wonder why
We have to tell each other lies
Maybe our heartache never dies with the hot night
You'll hear it tonight
We have to tell each other lies
Maybe our heartache never dies with the hot night
crash
You'll hear it tonight
