Flying towards the distant horizon to fight for this world like the sun appearing in the night sky throwing out life-savers swinging my the sword in the mist its brilliance drives the evils into the stars

*You you you kneel down at once watch me stretch my bow with the thousand-mile arrow You you you kneel down at once don't force me to release my magic carpet You you you kneel down at once don't force me to unsheath my magic sword You you you kneel down at once the gushing wind brings thunder and lightning The pretty sailors transform into warriors gathering their strength with love, saving humanity from the abyss
Their bodies emit an aura, so bright it can be seen with eyes closed bright as Buddha's light in the sky Though the evils use their tricks, when the sailors transform they drive ths evils into a corner *repeat

gathering their strength with love, saving humanity
Flying towards the distant horizon to fight for this world like the sun appearing in the night sky throwing out lifesavers swinging my sword in the mist, its brilliance drives the evils into the stars
Their bodies emit an aura, so bright it can be seen with eyes closed bright as Buddha's light first appeared in the sky
transform
they drive the evils into a corner
