Nothing happened, it's just two people passing through

Hearing voices in my head, hope they never lie to you

Why's something always gotta be up with you

Whatever I do is never enough for someone like you

Passing through you all the time

Turning blood into wine, turning blood into wine

Who'll forgive me, who's to say if it's right or wrong

And you won't see me in a light that shines on me

And how come something's always gotta be up with you

Back on my feet but the night's getting long, do you think about me too

Turning blood into wine

It's passing through you all the time

Turning blood into wine

Three more days and you'll be hanging on the line

And if they ask you how I'm doing

Just tell 'em that I'm fine, staying out all the time

Is turning blood into wine, turning blood into wine

Blood into wine
