Waking up late, a gray Sunday morning
Got up on the wrong side, so go back to bed
Newspaper says, it's gonna be raining
At least until Wednesday, but I pay no mind

The wonder of it all
Caught up in the everlasting fall
Watch the years roll by
Counting shooting stars across the sky

You can wait a whole lifetime to figure out
The best days are the ones we forgot about

I can't complain, it's been such a mild winter
Flip on the TV, those shows that we love
The sun will go down, on a north Tulsa skyline
Over and over, like the day before

The wonder of it all
Caught up in the everlasting fall
Watch the years roll by
Counting shooting stars across the sky

You can wait a whole lifetime to figure out
The best days are the ones we forgot about

We know everything must have an end
We can't pretend
It's so nice of you to stick around

The wonder of it all
Caught up in the everlasting fall
Watch the years roll by
Counting shooting stars across the sky

The wonder of it all
Caught up in the everlasting fall
Watch the years roll by
Counting shooting stars across the sky

You can wait a whole lifetime to figure out
The best days are the ones we forgot about

The best days are the ones we forgot about
