"Maquerade In Claustrophobia" the pounding walls of fear beating, pulsing in my head rising and descending like ritual panic

my entire being becomes engulfed, encircled in a never ending maze of sound and sight

lungs inhale the vacuum the nothingness of the unknown inhaling the fear that forever flows pulsing, beating, rushing from my heart no escape, petrified, paralyzed pulses of blood beat harder within the black outer skin of a grotesque charade masquerade in airless cell the prison of the mind, a blackened shell
