This will be the end of me.
I don't care, no one else should.
I stand here away from you
And I think it's so much better,
Now that I think it through
Those red planet avenues
I know you've seen them too.

And I'll be like no other will,
But guess again I don't care,
That I stand here away from you.
I watch your fingers and I spy your lips.
Wholeness is limitless like contentment is. It is.

I turn my own thoughts against myself, I feel so alone.
You're everything I ever could ask for.
Everything I ever would ask for.
Everything.

This will be the end of me.
It's gonna be, I do see myself in your arms.
In fits of anxiety I fall through the floor
And in earnest admiration make no sense at all.

Those who are meant to will eventually be.
I am content,
You're everything I ever would ask for.
Everything I ever could ask for.
Everything.
