You've got that look upon your face
Like you've been places that I'll never know,
That I'll never go.
Those legs that reach the height of my shoulder's
Heart's heavy as a boulder
Skin weathered as you got older
Those white sides
Those strong hands
Have seen and touched what holds the world together
What holds the world together
And you
Oh you!
Put your faith in most everyone
Wish I could say the same
Wish I could say the same, for my soul
You
Oh you!
Put your faith in most everyone
Wish I could say the same
Wish I could say the same, for my soul
Those kids you've known since the day they were born
Have all grown up
Now it's their turn to hold the world together
Comin' along comin' along,
Comin' along comin' along
All these years
I've been coming along
And I'll be
Comin' along comin' along
Comin' along comin' along
Till I'm gone
Till I'm gone!
Until I'm gone
Till I'm gone
Till I'm gone
Till I'm gone
