God of Abraham, lion and the lamb
I have known to you
Story has been told through the days of old
And I have known you Just when I think I can't know you more you open my eyes wider than before

And somehow you draw me, draw me in closer, closer and closer
To who you really are
And I fall over and over, all over in love again
With who you really are
R
edeemer of my soul, giver of all hope
I have known you
Justice is your name, still you are progress
I have known you
Just when I think I can't love you more
you open my eyes wider than before

You are more than I can comprehend
More than I'll ever understand
Every little glimpse of you
I'll fall over in love again
You are more than I can comprehend
More than I'll ever understand
With every little glimpse of you
I'll fall over in love again
Over and over with who you really are
And I'll fall over and over, all over in love again
With who you really are
With who you really are.
