"Clementine"

Clementine was born not to be
Born not to love
Like you and me

No one has ever seen her cry
But hidden in her eyes
There's a whole wide see

Clementine walks around at night
Talks the moonlight into sleep
Wakes up slowly taking her time
She has no one to meet

No one wonders where she's from
If she has ever had someone of her own
She is just a part of the sea
A part of you and me

Clementine reads all day long
Carries the world of someone unknown
Finds her castle
Sits on her throne
Then she is not alone
