She could walk so dangerously, in her world, she was liberty
But she never could find it free, so she came with a price for it
Open your eyes, was the last thing on your mind

She wants just TO BE ADORED
All she wants is TO BE ADORED

There was too much to forget, so goodbye, out into the sunset
And together walked alone, found a home in the garden
And yet open your eyes, was the last thing on your mind

She wants just TO BE ADORED
All she wants is TO BE ADORED
