Raise your brow above the ground
Beyond the still horizon's boundaries
Raise your thoughts above your dreams
At times it's hard to see, but After life we will always be
Right now, the dawn is breaking
All that's good is easy to see
Right here, the world's awaking
Hope becomes reality
This reckless world is just illusion
All at once, there's a message from above
This restless world of mass confusion
In the name of love
There's a message from above, surrender
As we rise up through the clouds
Breaking free of all connections
In love, a thread of faith is found
And it will wash us clean
We are strong when we believe
Right now, the dawn is breaking
All that's good is easy to see
Right here, at the world's awaking
Hope becomes reality
This restless world is just illusion
All at once, there's a message from above
This senseless world of mass confusion
In the name of love
There's a message from above
This restless world of mass confusion
All at once, there's a message from above
This reckless world is just illusion
In the name of love
There's a message from above
In this world of mass confusion
All at once, there's a message from above
This senseless world and it's illusions
In the name of love, there's a message from above
Surrender ... surrender ... surrender
