Sometimes everything works out okay.
And sometimes seems to go the other way.
But it really don't matter at all.
It depends upon how quickly you rise when you fall.
So make sure you don't stay down too long.
Sometimes nothing can go wrong.
And some times the good times don't stay too long.
But don't cry, find out why they don't.
And the next time you think that they will go, but they won't
And the good times will be there if you want.
You try, try to fall in love.
It's the key to everything
It's the calling of the wind
That sings to you and plays for you when you are down.
You try, try to look above
To the clouds up in the sky.
That is where the music lies.
And you can have it when you fall in love.
Sometimes the music don't come out too well.
And sometimes there really isn't much to tell.
But nothing's wrong, it's a song you feel.
And the moment you thought of it, it must have been real.
Or you wouldn't even thought of it.
You just try, try to fall in love.
It's the key to everything
It's the calling of the wind
That sings to you and plays to you when you are down.
You try, try to look above
To the clouds up in the sky.
That is where the music lies.
You can have it when you fall in love.
