I'm a little curious of you in crowded scenes
And how serene your friends and fiends
We flew and strolled as two eliminated gently
Why don't you close your eyes and reinvent me
You knew you had a heart made of stone
You should have let me know
You could have let me know
We'll go 'till morning comes
And traffic grows
And windows hum
Speding all week with your friends
Give me evenings and weekends
Evenings and weekends
I could be yours
We can unwind
All these other flaws (x2)
You'd agree it's a typical high
You fly as you watch your name go by
And once the name goes by
Not thicker than water nor thicker than mud
And the eight k thuds it does

Sunset so quickly

Let's make it quiet and quickly

Don't frown

Taste better on the way back down

I could be yours

We can unwind

All these other flaws (x3)

Will lead to mine

We can unwind

All these other flaws (x2)

Will see to

All these other flaws

Will lead to mine

We can unwind all our flaws (x2)
