

Samantha Moore

"Remember Me"

Visit "Remember Me" on MotoLyrics.com

In case I don't remember
I'll send a letter to myself
Let it sit dusty on the shelf
And watch the years go by
Only to be opened should I become a millionaire
I guess it's gonna stay right there
And what's the chance of that

You hear so many stories
They always have such tragic endings
Burned in a blaze of glory
That's why I'm writing to myself to save myself

Remember me
I'm the girl you used to be
I just dropped a line to tell you
You can't fool me
You say you need some therapy
Hello, hello, do you remember me?

In case you don't remember
All the good times that you had
This little town was not so bad
For standing in a crowd
And no one is a stranger
And everybody calls your name
To go out walking in the rain
And what's the chance of that

I bet you take a taxi
You wouldn't want to spoil that outfit
Your friends went home without you
The one you love is close but he's so far away

Remember me
I'm the girl you used to be
I just dropped a line to tell you
You can't fool me
You say you need some therapy
Hello, hello, do you remember me?

And I am you

And I am happy here
I've got nothing but myself
You get so much but still it's not enough
And it will never be

You're reaching for the letter
That's sitting dusty on the shelf
'Cause now it's time to save yourself
From who you have become

Hope it makes you feel better
And I hope it makes you laugh
Included is a photograph
Of you when you were me

Remember me?
I'm the girl you used to be
I just dropped a line to tell you
You can't fool me
You say you need some therapy
Hello, hello, do you remember?
Remember me? (remember me?)
I'm the girl you used to be (used to be)
I just dropped a line to tell you (yeah!)
You can't fool me (can't fool me)
You say you need some therapy (no, no you don't)
Hello, hello, do you remember me?

Visit Samantha Moore page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.