We have got to stop fighting
We have got to learn to get along
We have got to know for a relationship in heaven
We've got to tame the devils on our tongues

Oh it gets harder every time, we both cross the invivable line
It feels like we're on two different planets We're broken who's gonna fix us, and put us back together again

Chorus
So let's push it all aside
Take a swallow of pride
And realise
That nothing could be sweeter than loving each other
If we forget who was wrong and who's right

Yeah let's push it all aside
take a swallow of pride
and realise
that nothing could be sweeter than loving each other
if we forget who was wrong and who's right

And put our ammunition to one side We have got to understand exploding isn't ever gonna close the gap between us it's too wide

Oh it gets harder every day
We spit back at each other and say
It feels like we're on two different planets
But when all the damage is done
It's too late to be sorry

Chorus

So let's get some understanding (ohhhh)
Just take a deep big breath and say

You can forget all the words I said Keep them far away Cos they don't mean what I meant Now they're gone anyway
(ah)

Chorus x 3
