In 92, Norwegian town Oslo
It happened to me that you decide to go
Your restless heart was always on the way
Searching for a man to stand you through

Wherever you are, whatever you do by now
Change your life for new to call your own
High life, parties all the time
But one thing I must say before I go

I hope you still know, the way to the old home town
Your daughter and me, at Bueberry street number 9
I hope you still know, the way to the old home town
There will be a time, when all our heart may change

Even now, that I've learned to live without you
From time to time, I feel I need you so
Wherever you are, I hope you will change your mind
For now it's easy come, it's easy go

Where are the days, you and me in the kitchen
Just watching little Mary playing
Whereever you are, you certainly feel alright
But one thing I must say before I go

I hope you still know, the way to the old home town
Your daughter and me, at Bueberry street number 9
I hope you still know, the way to the old home town
There will be a time, when all our heart may change

Uuu, I still believe in you
Uuu, I still believe in you
There will be a tine, when all our heart may change
