If you think that your end is near
When your headache is worse than any passed year
When the only feeling left is fear
All drive to escape disappeared

Nobody should die alone, make a wish before you're gone
And ask your old friends to share the past before the end [x2]

Had a great life, but stayed unknown, unknown.
Everyday spent waiting for the ringing of a phone Or some visit to flavour your blending days, bland day.
Seems like the sky has turned grey

Nobody should die alone, make a wish before you're
gone
And ask your old friends to share the past before the end
[x2]

Take the step, push the door,
And if you fall don't lie on the floor
Memories in pictures they're hanging on the wall Don't wait for the others to come 'Cause they can't see what you've become You're speaking slowly, slowly rotting Did I just see an angel pass above your head?

Nobody should die alone, make a wish before you're
gone
And ask your old friends to share the past before the end
[x2]

Nobody should die alone, make a wish before you're
gone
And ask your old friends to share
