"Blame Me"

Don't get tired, I hope I'm not buggin' you It's just my worsened ways of trying to keep loving you And if I seem like I'm falling apart Blame me and don't blame my heart

If someone tells you that you look good now And offered to take you out to all the places I wished I could now
I might get a little jealous, baby and make life seem a little hard Come on and take it out on me, baby, please, please don't break my heart

I know on the outside it seems I don't love you I thought you were different by the way I kiss and hug you Baby, wipe away the tears now, oh, just before they start Blame me, oh darlin' and don't blame my heart
Oh baby, blame me and don't blame my heart
