

Miro

"Eagle"

Visit "Eagle" on MotoLyrics.com

I don't wanna fight for my right to be wrong
Tears run dry on my pillow, no more fear of the dark
Oh, I feel that I'm strong, I can face my tomorrow
Beauty comes from inside

When you take your children out of the cradle
Let them choose alone the way they will follow
If they lose their way then you've gotta give them
Give the love

'Cause I, I'll be myself no matter what
And I feel such a love deep down inside
And if all should break, fall or crumble
Then one day I'll know that I, that I have tried

In the eye of an eagle I see earth as a toy
Down there I feel so little, I was trying to fly

When you take your children out of the cradle
Let them choose alone the way they will follow
If they lose their way then you've gotta give them
Give the love

'Cause I, I'll be myself no matter what
And I feel such a love deep down inside
And if all should break, fall or crumble
Then one day I'll know that I, that I have tried

'Cause I, I'll be myself no matter what
And I feel such a love deep down inside
And if all should break, fall or crumble
Then one day I'll know that I, that I have tried
In the eye of an eagle

Visit Miro page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.
