Did you see this coming from somewhere far away?
Standing in a shadow just wanting me to stay
Just a little longer but then I'll have to run
From everything I stood for, from everything we've done
From anyone but you, from anyone but you

The farther I keep running to try and hide my place
I just can't stop forgetting I only see your face
I'm sick of being inward, I'm tired of my thoughts
I never wanted to be with anyone but you
With anyone but you, from anyone but you, oh

Now I wake up sweating like a freight train through the rain
Or a lost ship on the ocean or a runaway jet plane
I'm pleading with my anger, I'm twisting in my sleep
In need of some direction just anyone to keep Anyone but you, anyone but you, oh

Did you see this coming from somewhere far away?
Standing in a shadow just wanting me to stay
Just a little longer but then I'll have to run
From everything I stood for, from everything we've
done
Anyone but you, from anyone but you
From anyone but you, anyone, from anyone oh
