Every night I wanna write and tell you just how I feel
Girl, you know, every day, I wanna call and say
I still need you in my life for real
See I'm all alone, the silence in the telephone

Hasn't reached out to touch me lately
Girl it hurts me so, you just let me go
And I'm slowly losing my mind

Every time a car drives by, I see that look in your eye
Tellin' me that you're gonna be home soon
Every time a car drives by, I see that look in your eye
Tellin' me that you're on your way

Girl, I'm dyin' inside, will you return from your ride
And make everything okay?
Till then, when a car drives by with that look in your eye
I'll be slowly losin' my mind

Even though, I already know, you won't be comin' home Girl, I have to try and stay and fight for the love I must call my own
I'm still holding on, though I know you're gone
I'll probably never hold you close again

Now and then I remember where and when Girl, I'm slowly losin' my mind

Every time a car drives by, I see that look in your eye
Tellin' me that you're gonna be home soon
Every time a car drives by, I see that look in your eye
Tellin' me that you're on your way

Girl, I'm dyin' inside, will you return from your ride
And make everything okay
Till then, when a car drives by with that look in your eye
I'll be slowly losin' my mind

Any two doors will do, there's no need for complication
I can't help but feel you, I'm trying to be patient
But every time I'm at my window
The tears fall, the rain falls, my heart calls out

Louder and louder to you

Every time a car drives by, I see that look in your eye
Tellin' me that you're gonna be home soon
Every time a car drives by, I see that look in your eye
Tellin' me that you're on your way

Girl, I'm dyin' inside, will you return from your ride
And make everything okay
Till then, when a car drives by with that look in your eye
I'll be slowly losin' my mind
