

Samsons "Hammerhead"

Visit "Hammerhead" on MotoLyrics.com

A story is told that in Asgard of old was a hammer of great might
By the furnace light in the depth of night
they cast an ingot bold

Can you hear the hammerhead in the wind [x2]

*They hammered on wrought and the rune spell caught and engraved upon it's shaft
With a head of steel beneath which all men would kneel and would lay down the sword at last*

Can you hear the hammerhead in the wind [x2]

[STICK:]

*They laid on the anvil, a steel cold bar
Needing no fire nor file
But their sledgehammers following, like thunder rolled
And Sindre, sang runes by the fire*

[SOLO]

[REPEAT STICK]

Can you hear the hammerhead in the wind [x4]

Visit Samsons page on MotoLyrics.com, to get more lyrics and videos.