For all that I've done and all that I've tried
I'm still struggling to get by
And try not to drown my own jealousy
And not to resent the things before me
Cause I did my best and all that I could
But my best was never good enough for you
Blame it on me, all on me now
I know that it matters, I just dont know how

You're so happy, it makes me sick
You're so happy I can hardly deal with that
Crocodile smile, those walrus teeth
I don't understand what you want from me

Just one more then I'll walk away
And you'll never see me so lost in the day
Just one more, one more fix
And youll never see me need you like this
Cause I did my best and all that I could
But my best was never good enough for you
Blame it on me, all on me now
I know that it matters, I just dont know how

You're so happy, it makes me sick
You're so happy I can hardly deal with that
Crocodile smile, those walrus teeth
I don't understand what you want from me

And you say you know God, well I've met him too
And he told me we're all certainly doomed
And you say you know heaven and the stars in the sky
And you say that you'll get there or certainly try

Cause I did my best and all that I could
But my best was never good enough for you
Blame it on me, all on me now
I know that it matters, I just dont know how

You're so happy, it makes me sick
You're so happy I can hardly deal with that
Crocodile smile, those walrus teeth

I don't understand what you want from me

And you say you know God, well I've met him too
And he told me we're all certainly doomed
And you say you know heaven and the stars in the sky
And you say that you'll get
