"So Far"

So Far, it's been so good So far through all the joys and scars,
You've won the battles in my heart,
I long for what, you have in store Another opened door, should I stay here or look for more.

So far, you've brought me,
So far you've taught me
So far, that everything I need you are,
And now, another turn to take,
Another choice to make,
I can't believe we've come,
So Far.

You say, the fight has just begun and yet the battles won,
By trusting in your holy son,
You know, the plans you have for me, I'm trying to believe,
But my eyes can only see so far.
