I fell in love with you

I fell in love with you during the nights that had lost their prominence

I fell in love with you during the times when darkness lit up the night

During the times when my heart had no place to hide

I fell in love with you, when sad poems caressed your lips

I fell in love with you when my loneliness became my hurdle

I fell in love with you on the day that your eyes were lost in mine

When an orphaned love had become trapped in my heart,

I fell in love with you when wild rivers had been tamed within me.

I fell in love with you, with your honest and unexpected manner

I fell in love with you with a slight pain that trickled from my eyes to my heart

While running step by step to loneliness with you

I fell in love with you on the nights that I was alone with your dream

I fell in love with you, in the middle of a rainy night

I fell in love with you, without any limits on my love

Within my damned words and unbounded heart

I fell in love with you, in the center of all that was forbidden
